

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention relates to a device providing an electrical connection between the recoiling mass of a weapon and a fixed 5 cradle.

This device is characterized in that it incorporates at least one connector formed of a plug and socket, one of which is integral with the cradle and the other with the recoiling mass, the elements being disconnected during the recoil of 10 the recoiling mass.